THE POTTER COMMITTEE.

Chandler Still on the Stand.

By Telegraph to the News.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Ex-Governor Packard telegraphs to the Potter Committee that he has been subpœnaed to appear before the Louisiana sub-committee at New Orleans to-day at 1 o'clock.

The Committee met at 11:30. Mrs. Jenks resumed the chair and produced the correspondence between herself and Anderson. Anderson not being present the letters were not read. They will be withheld until his arrival. The witness was further questioned in relation to writing the Sherman letter, but still declined to name the person to whom she dictated the letter as it would be a breach of confidence as well as friendship.

Samuel P. Butler, correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, was then examined relative to an interview in that paper under the head of the "The Missing Link." The witness testified that Mrs. Jenks stated in said interview that she came to Washington in behalf of Gov. Packard in securing the New Orleans Collectorship; also spoke of having called on Secretary Sherman in relation thereto, but had not met a very warm reception. That the Secretary had given her assurances while in New Orleans that her influence would go quite far in the appointment of those of her chosing. She further stated that she had heard it said that Judge Campbell had forged a jurat to the Anderson protest. Mrs. Jenks also stated during the interview, in speaking of the so-called Sherman letter, that that document was safe in New Orleans.

Mr. Chandler resumed the stand and produced telegrams already published sent by him from Fifth Avenue Hotel early on the morning of November 8th, (although dated November 7th) to Packard, Gorham and others stating that Hayes and Wheeler were elected if certain states were carried, and counselled the Republicans to be watchful against possible Democratic frauds, also a telegram from U. S. Grant hoping the witness would remain in Florida until the vote of the State was decided. The witness did not know of the frauds in Florida and believed there never was a fairer result obtained by fairer means than the result in Florida. In answer to a question by Butler, he mentioned the following Presidential appointments on his recommendation made subsequently to the Florida election: Major F. C. Humphreys, Collector at Pensacola, Fla.; Gov. Stearns, member of the Hot Springs Commission; Judge McLin, Associate Justice of the Territory of New Mexico; Geo. H. DeLeon, Secretary to Governor Stearnes, to clerkship in the Treasury Department; a young man named Phelps, a local Republican in Florida, appointed in the Treasury Department and now gone to Paris with Governor McCormick, Jos. Barnes, inspector of elections at a poll near Tallahassee, where there was an alleged fraud of 74 votes, to a clerkship in the Treasury; James Bell, county Judge, Florida, clerkship in the Land Office; Capt. Dennis, recommended for auditor in the Treasury, not appointed; E. W. Maxwell, in the detective service of the Attorney-General, and visited Florida in that capacity during the count, appointed Lieutenant in regular army. Block and Vance election officers at Archer precinct box No. 2 were appointed, the former in the Custom House at Philadelphia the latter as messenger in Sixth Auditors office Postoffice building, Washington. Both of these are colored. J W Howell deputy, clerk Baker county, was appointed Collector of Customs at Fernandina Fla.

The witness' first reliable information that the Packard Government had been broken up; was received from Matthews ten days before the fourth of March. The witness then mentioned an interview between Matthews and himself. In which the witness said he desired Hayes when he reached Washington should not stop at a private residence but at a hotel, to avoid jealousies, whereupon Matthews remarked since he (Withers) took so much interest in the new administration, he wished he would use his influence with President Grant toward having him recognize the Nicholls government and that recognition would include the Hampton government. The witness stated to Senator Matthews that he did not see how President Grant could recognize the Nichols Government, as the Packard Government had been elected by the same vote. Hayes was, whereupon Matthews said he had looked into that matter and that there was no difficulty in that direction as one had been declared elected by the Electorial College and the other by the Legislature.

THE EUROPEAN CONGRESS.

By Cable to the News.

LONDON, June 29.—Berlin telegrams say, at the opening of the sitting Friday, Andrassy read a memorandum setting forth the alarm and expense caused to Austria by the continued disturbance in Bosnia. Did not ask annexation only, but begged the Congress to find a solution.

Salisbury proposed that Austria becharged to occupy Bosnia and Herzegovina. All the plenipotentiaries assented, except the Turkish, who declared Turkey could not assent. She was only bound by the treaty at San Stefano, the limits of which were exceeded by the present demand. Turkey was able to protect and administer to Bosnia, and they had formal instructions to resist the concession.

Beaconsfield declared England could not but adhere to the Salisbury proposal, and reminded the Turks that they had previously been unable to maintain order in the provinces under discussion.

Bismarck urged the Turks to ask for fresh instructions.

The Congress declared in favor of independent Servia, subject to the proviso for amelioration in the treatment of the Jews.

Another dispatch says the Turkish protest against the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina so forcibly that the Congress left the question in abeyance.

BOONE, June 21.

I see in the proceedings of the State Convention, that Watauga voted through her proxies for Col. Folk and Judge McKoy. Our County Convention instructrd D. W. Bain and Judge Strong to vote for Folk 1st and then for Schenck. Will you please make the correction in your valuable paper.

NASH COUNTY.

Special to the News.

CASTALIA, June 29.

Having recently travelled over large portions of this county I find crops poor, though growing now the weather is warm.

I have heard many expressions of opinion relative to the Senatorial question. Some who were slightly in favor of Judge Merrimon previous to his card now advocate Governor Vance's election.

General Clingman does not express the views of the people in his subtle interview, philosopher that he is. The people think they have the right to express their preferences, and the Burke county resolutions would pass in nearly every county of the State.

The session was occupied largely in discussing the educational interests of the church.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

Rev. A. M. Jurney and T. A. Wainright offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That each preacher within the bounds of the New Berne District make special effort to send at least one student to Trinity College, from his respective charge, at the opening of the next collegiate year in September.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE.

Resolved, That we the New Berne District Conference heartily endorse Greensboro Female College, and recommend it to the patronage of our people as worthy of the church and the age, in sound scholarship and moral powers.

MISSIONARY WORK.

The missionary work was discussed at length, whereupon the following was adopted:

Assured that the aggressive spirit that characterizes the missionary work is essentially the spirit of christianity, and that in following Christ and the examples of the apostles we must carry the gospel to the regions beyond. Therefore,

Resolved, That we, as ministers, will endeavor to cultivate destitute sections of country situated in sufficient proximity to our work to alolw us to give a portion of our time to them, that we organize congregations and build churches for divine worship whenever it is practicable.

MORNING SESSION—LAST DAY.

Conference was opened with prayer by Rev. C. C. Dodson. Rev. Mr. Hill, of the Free Will Baptist Church; was introduced to the Conference.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The Sunday School interest was discussed, opened by Mr. W. F. Kornegay. Mr. Kornegay is known as a great Sunday School worker. He is the efficient President of the Sunday School Conference for this District. By request of the Conference, he will deliver on tomorrow at 3 o'clock, a lecture on the Sabbath School cause.

Convicted of Stealing.

By Telegraph to the News.

RICHMOND, VA., June 29.—W. F. Trogden, of the firm of Trogden & Co., of Greensboro, N. C., on trial in the Husting's Court on a charge of stealing about five hundred dollars' worth of goods from M. Millheiser & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants of this city, has been convicted and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Trogden was convicted under the embezzlement laws of the State, it having been shown that he obtained the goods from Millheiser & Co., by falsely representing the financial condition of his firm. He had also obtained goods from other firms here under the same representations. After rendering the verdict, the jury unanimously signed a petition asking Executive clemency. A motion to set aside the verdict as being contrary to the law and evidence will be argued July 10th. Meantime Trogden was committed to jail.

THE UNIVERSITY NORMAL SCHOOL.

Interesting Lectures--Col. Jed. Hotchkiss, of Staunton, Va., on Geography--How to Teach It--Col. Robert Bingham's Brilliant Lecture on The Claims of Christianity as a Civilizer--Lectures on Geography--Latin Classes--Debating Societies.

Reported Specially for the News.

CHAPEL HILL, June 27.

EIGHTH DAY.

Col. Hotchkiss delivered his first lecture on Geography to-day. He said: Teachers of North Carolina, this subject is one with which all are familiar, in a certain sense. The word Geography is much abused. Any one can give some sort of a definition of what is meant by Geography. What is the earth but one of the units of creation—a complete whole and an organized body? It was created for a purpose. Considered as a whole and the relations of all its parts it is the work of a great architect. Thus consider it, and Geography rises to the dignity of a science—not content that things are, but why they are. Learn to read the earth and discover the relations each part bears to the whole. I am to talk about Primary Geography, and not about systems. All instruction is simply the teaching of three things, laug age, numbers and science, or things. Things and think are the same. Things are thoughts. No road to thought but through things. The scientific subject in primary education is Geography. Learn to read the face of the globe. We think ourselves the lords, yet we are the servants of creation, and we do just what the Geographical elements require of us. The tide of one of the most notable battles of the late war was changed because a line of limestone had a projection of two feet at an angle of forty-five degrees. The language of geography is written on the surface of the earth. One of the greatest geographers travelled little. He read the characters written by the finger of the elements on the earth's surface.

Begin the study of geography here in North Carolina, at your very schoolroom door. There begin, there end.

Teach first direction. People have not the first idea of direction. Take a compass and show the different points and directions. Teach a child to box the compass. Science has not given the mariner ability to get his direction within three miles of his destination. Never teach direction in concert. Teach individually. The second thing to teach is distance. Understand scales of maps. Teach map drawing, Let the children begin with the school room and they will soon be young Humboldts on a geographical expedition. Those who descend into the ocean say that life is stratified, the lower you go the lower order of life is found until finally you reach the home of a mass of slime, which some philosophers say is the source of our mind, of our very existence.

3rd. Teach height. Teach children the distance, heights and direction of objects at home and they will become attached to home. Do not use text books with children. The lecture was interesting and was illustrated with crayon drawing on the blackboard.

Prof. Hotchkiss has a strong face, is above the medium height, has iron-gray hair and beard and is a fluent and graceful speaker. His lectures give promise of great instruction and much pleasure.

COLONEL ROBERT BINGHAM.

At half-past eight o'clock despite a shower, a large audience greeted Col. Bingham in the Chapel.

In introducing the speaker, President Battle said: The name of Bingham has been connected with the schools of the South for a hundred years—longer than any other. His grandfather came to America in 1787. He was one of the old Scotch Irish who have always won distinction in what they undertook.

Having taught all his life the first William Bingham died amid the scene of his active labours He taught first in Wilmington, then in Chatham county and he was one time a professor in the University. His son, W. J. Bingham. was educated to the profession of the law. At the death of his father, the school was without a principal and W. J. Bingham assumed charge. He became enamored of the profession and afterwards devoted his entire life to that calling. His name was famous in all the States of the Union and even from Texas numbers of student came to him. He educated more representative men than any teacher in the land. At his death, his two sons, William and Robert, took charge of the school. Col. William gained great distinction as a teacher and his text books have been adopted in many of the leading high schools and some colleges of the land. At his death sometime since, Col. Ro. Bingham became one of the principals and he has now the largest preparatory school in the South. The counsels of the head of such an institution is of great value to the teachers of North Carolina and it is with very great pleasure that I introduce Col. Robert Bingham.

Before taking up the subject proper of his lecture Col. Bingham stated the reason why he had written the address. Eight years ago an effort was made to rejuvinate the defunct Bible Society of Orange county, and of course an address was to be had. There was a dearth of speakers—a thing unusual. He happened to be in Hillsboro and the committee asked him to speak. He refused, but upon the solicitation of a friend he promised to write and read something—not being accustomed to public speaking. His object was to create some special interest in the Bible "and hence," said he, "the quasi-religious character of this lecture."

As a matter of congratulation, he stated that the establishment of the Normal School was the greatest event in the history of North Carolina of the past one hundred years. Its successes are more direct and affect the future of the State more than any event which has occurred or is likely to occur.

North Carolina is rarely prominent in anything, but is good in all things.

This State is the first to conduct the Normal School with her University and put it under the control of the same men. In this the State has done wisely. President Battle has done more for North Carolina in his efforts for education through the University, than any man in the State. This is the first time in the annals of the State that females have enjoyed the benefits of public money, and now only is it done partially.

He eulogised the Normal School and stated that had he attended a Normal School many of his defects would have been remedied. He was rejoiced to see so many lady teachers present. They have peculiar fitness for training young minds. The best students at the Bingham School are those who came from the hands of lady teachers.

The Normal School depends on the next election, and he urged the teachers to work, vote, talk and write for and about the Normal School. The appropriation was out this session and it will be a sad day in the State when the sun of the Normal School shines for the last time on the University campus. The University has made inquiries relative to our methods of teaching. If numbers are any indication, and they are, the Normal School is a success.

The speaker then began the discussion of his subject. Said he, our ancestors were barbarous, yet they reverenced the sun and moon and have perpetuated these planets in naming days after them. As we live under a physical sun, so do we as little as we may think, live under a spiritual sun—the Bible. Assuming the evidences of christianity the system is superior to other systems and was so regarded by Solon, Cicero, Socrates and other heathens, and by Paine, Gibbon and Rosseau and other infidels and atheists. It has stood the test of heathen philosophers and noted infidels, its superiority over their system.

2. Success. It has grown a giant from a feeble infant. Compared to attraction of gravity and shows the resemblance. Silently, but mightily, has it overcome and we must acdnowledge its superiority.

3. It has held its position so firmly that the boundary line of Christianity and of modern civilization are coincident. Asia and Africa are without a ray of light. The systems of Birmah, Bramah, Zooraster retarded the progress of civilization. The purer the Christianity the higher the civilization. The power of Christianity, as a civilizer, is especially seen in the Sandwich Islands. The Bible has reached these savages, and now they have 5000 communicants at one church, and pay more for its support, man for man, than do the Christians of North Carolina. This shows their sincerity.

4. The Bible is the most universally received classic in the English language. Dictionaries are examples from Scripture. It is a storehouse for speeches, orations and for lower classes. The English language is the only one in which the Bible language and literature is received as classic. English language is a perfect academy. We have no various dialects. The Anglo Saxon is master of the high seas, and is therefore a leader in civilization. Bible societies, Tract societies and the religious press are Anglo Saxon institutions.

5. In Bible lands woman has reached her highest station. This system makes woman a vestal to guard our domestic circle: a queen of our virtues. God grant that in the grasp of race-equality, woman may never be polluted.

6. This system furnishes the only means by which civilization of the 19th century shall not reach its climax and pass away. The history of man is the history of dead empires. Where is Babylon, Rome, &c., gone? The past civilizations were weak, and we are avoiding the rock on which other generations have split.

The speaker here described the Greek mode of civilization, also the Roman mode. When these empires had performed their mission, the first the greatest perfection in art and literature and studies of an æsthetic nature and the second, the unity of government, &c. Our systems are taken from these. We have selected the good and expurgated the bad. When our civilization is finished we will have a goal shown us by christianity. A christian community cannot rest, and when consummation is reached in material civilization, we must be aggressive or we will forfeit our grand magna charta of christianity. We can only attain to that perfection when the knowledge of God fills our lands as water does the seas.

A mere outline can only be given. The lecture was a beautiful piece of composition, full of rich thought, of purity of sentiment, and morality of ideas. I was never more pleased with any address.

Rev. S. Simpson, President of Yadkin College, arrived this evening.

CHAPEL HILL, June 28.

NINTH DAY.

Mention of Prof. Owen's lecture on Geography was crowded out of yesterday's letter.

GEOGRAPHY.

Definitions were given, and situations pointed out the different slopes, reliefs and table lands. The lecturer spoke of the heights of table lands, of the surface of the water, of plateaus and of mountains. Reliefs continue to increase from the poles to the tropics. Highest elevation in the Old World is found near the Tropic of Cancer. In the New World it is near the Tropic of Capricorn. There is great power in Nature. From astronomical measures, as you go to the equator, you get hotter; but while this is going on, yet, because of your ascending, you get cooler. Thus the astronomical heat is tempered by the coolness of elevation. Suppose a contrary cause, i. e. a slope from poles to tropics; the result would also be vice versa, and the climate unbearable. If this were so, even in our own temperate climes, we would be frozen to death, and the most civilized portion of the globe would be uninhabitable. All the long and gentle slopes are towards the Atlantic, also its arms, as for instance the Northern ocean. All short and rapid slopes are towards the Pacific. Hence, these oceans are of different geological character. The Pacific Ocean was formed by a breaking in, like ice breaks in, and hence its coast is abrupt and rugged, and we would expect volcanoes. The Pacific Ocean occupies the place of a continent of the old ages that has fallen in. The Atlantic was formed by a depression in the shape of a trough. It is narrow, and is not full of islands, and its slopes from the continent are gentle. The most ancient chains of mountains are the least elevated, the most recent are most elevated. The continental masses of the old world have grown from North to South. North Carolina and Virginia are the oldest parts of the Western continent. The characteristics of the old world are table lands and mountains. Mountains and plateaus of Asia form five sevenths of its surface. The high region of Africa constitute two-thirds of its surface, and only one-third constitutes the plain surface.

The plains of Northern Europe and Asia do not form a part of historical Europe and Asia. New world a land of plains—two-thirds of its surface are plains—one-third plateaus and mountains. Even these are placed in the remotest section of country, as forming no essential part of their usefulness. The plains of Amazon and Mississippi are far superior to the plains of Northern Europe and Asia in unmeasurable resources, while those in the old world are comparatively useless.

Contrast Europe with Asia and we find the former characterized by mountains without plateaus, while the latter is characterized by plateaus without mountains.

PROF. HOTCHKISS' SECOND LECTURE ON GEOGRAPHY.

There are three things to be taught according to last lecture. Science or Geography. one of them. If you teach six hours a day, two hours should be given for geography.

Have three classes, primary, intermediate and advanced. Conduct pupils step by step up the ladder, that leads to a knowledge of Geography. This State is the full grown North Carolinian. Learn geography in this way. North Carolina, United States, England, Holy Land, other countries of Europe, South America, Asia, Australia and a little of Africa.

Descriptive natural geography comprises seven things to be taken up as here laid down: 1. Position and general relations. 2. Extent and character of surface—outline and Relief. Relief is the elevation of one part above the sea level. 3. Water. 4. Rocks, soils and minerals. 5. Climate. 6. Animal and vegetable production. 7. Man.

Latin—Bigham's Grammar.

A few days since I attended the recitation in Bingham's Grammar. This class is composed of eighteen ladies and eight gentlemen, and is conducted by Prof. Noble. Stress is given the following: Terminations, inflections, conjunctions, declension and the syntax, with the idea of showing the limitation of the subject and predicate. The new method of pronouncing is taking well. Prof. Noble is an earnest worker, a hard student, a patient teacher and a pleasant gentleman. I am proud to note the fact that not a single lady missed a question while I was in the room. The first regular meeting of the debating society was held to-night, over two hundred came out to witness the meeting. Two compositions were read and two pieces were declamied. The debate on the subject. Ought corporal punishment be abolished from our schools." The debate was well managed. Some of the ladies got mad at the mention of pretty clothes. They wear their dresses too long. They manage to drag up all the street dust. Give us walking dresses.

OUR WESTERN RAILWAY CONNECTIONS.

THROUGH WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA AND TENNESSEE TO THE GREAT WEST.

Probable Early Connection of Western North Carolina Railroad With Cincinnati--Views of Authorities of East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad---A Grand Future for the Old North State.

Knoxville Tribune.

The lively interest awakened among our people by the recent proposition of President Wilson, of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, to the authorities of Cincinnati and the Southern Railway suffered a needless abatement in consequence of the announcement of the withdrawal of that proposition. We say the abatement of interest was needless because there was nothing in the circumstances of the withdrawal to occasion any discouragement. President Wilson merely stepped aside, for the time being, in order that he might not appear as an intermeddler in the projected schemes of the managers of the Cincinnati Southern enterprise. But should the withdrawal of President Wilson's proposition prove to be permanent, that fact need not dampen the hopes of Knoxville in the slightest degree. Our connections in that direction, it appears, are by no means dependent upon Cincinnati, though it is highly probable that that city will be compelled to return to President Wilson's proposition as the best solution of her railway problem.

Knowing the public anxiety for further information in regard to the situation and prospects of our northern line, we yesterday called on Col. McGhee (who has been confined to his room by sickness since his return from Cincinnati,) to hear what he had to report. He said he had but little definite information to give regarding matters in Cincinnati, further than had already appeared in the Tribune; that Cincinnati would again vote on the appropriation to push the road to Chattanooga. What the result would be, he could not predict, but let it be what it may, he said there could be nothing of a discouraging character to Knoxville, for the reason that a connection will assuredly be secured with either Cincinnati or Louisville, and a connection with the latter will be equally as favorable as with the former. As to the reasons why the Louisville project had slept so long, Col. McGhee spoke satisfactorily, as follows:

"The Louisville and Nashville road," said Col. McGhee, "while controlled by Mr. Guthrie, as President, entered on the work of pushing forward the Knoxville branch of the road to a connection with the Knoxville and Ohio road at the Tennessee State line. Up to 1872 or 1873 the road was finished to Livington, within sixty-three miles of the State line. In addition to this the grading was completed to London, a distance of eighteen miles further. Thus to now reach the line of the State of Tennessee there would be forty-five miles to grade and sixty-three miles of track to lay. This condition of things has existed for several years and no step has been taken with reference to pushing forward the Knoxville branch to the Tennessee line. The President who succeeded Mr. Guthrie had his attention called to acquisitions in the South and West, and during his administration, the lines of the road south of Nashville to Montgomery, Ala., and also the lines west to connect them with Memphis were acquired. These acquisitions, mads just before the great financial crisis, proved so burdensome during the depression as to largely trench upon the revenues of the main line to sustain and retain the acquired lines. Thus no thought was given to the Knoxville extension, partly from the facts above recited, but mainly for the reason that the roads in this valley were watching Cincinnati and hoping that the trustees might determine to so locate as to secure both the Knoxville and Chattanooga connections, which could have been accomplished by building to Coal Creek and then via Emory Gap to Chattanooga. In addition to this the fact is that neither company has felt inclined to enter on the work of constructing new railroads, but were satisfied to wait The Louisville and Nashville Company, in the midst of their financial trouble, called to the Presidency Dr. E. D. Standiford. By his energy and capacity he has succeeded in relieving his company from the embarassments which the enterprise of his predecessor, followed, as it was, by the great depression in business, had entailed. He has greatly increased the gross business of his line and has brought the net earnings up to a point that has enabled him to place his Company again on the list of the dividend paying roads. So sagacious an officer as Dr. Standiford, who combines great caution with indomitable will and accuracy of judgment, has not overlooked the importance to his line of a connection with Knoxville, and through her with the middle Atlantic States. He has looked to it as a matter about which there need be no great haste, but has had his mind on it as a thing certainly to be accomplished and at no distant day. In the meantime the financial condition of the roads in the Tennessee valley have been greatly improved, and as the part of the road in Tennessee yet to be built to make the connection with Louisville is much less expensive than would be the connection with the Cincinnati Southern, no serious difficulty will be found in building to the Kentucky State line when the time comes for action."

"In order for the fullest development of our section of the State," continued Col. M., "it is to be hoped that the city of Cincinnati will vote the money necessary for the completion of the road to Chattanooga. This line would open up a section of country of some 140 miles that otherwise never would have been developed. It will give a new impetus to our sister city and make her a very attractive point for manufacturing industries, particularly of low grade iron.

"The connection with Louisville which will be secured to Knoxville will have the effect same on her business, and she will at no distant day become the point at which the higher grade iron can be more economically manufactured than any point in the United States. We will thus have two large and flourishing cities in our valley, not rivals, but each fulfilling her peculiar destiny. While the Chattanooga district furnishes cheap coal and a great abundance of ores, the Knoxville district has the cheap coal and is convenient to the same quality of ores as are to be found in the Chattanooga district, and in addition we find in the upper counties near Jonesboro, Johnston City and Carter's, the rich ores from which steel is made. These ores can of course be delivered at Knoxville cheaper than at Chattanooga. With coal as cheap, ores cheaper and equal facilities for transporting to the Ohio Valley, and superior advantages to the seaboard, all this must point out Knoxville as the point for making iron of a high grade,"

"The present outlook for our city and our section is brighter, in my judgment," said Col M., "than it has been at any time. The low price of iron will force manufacturers to locate where circumstances are most favorable. No place in the United States presents advantages equal to points on the line of of the Knoxville and Ohio road, and at Knoxville, Jonesboro, Johnson City and on the Morristown branch. The district of East Tennessee from Knoxville to Johnson City can furnish the pure and rich ores from which steel is made in greater quantities and more easily accessible than any part of the South. We have cheap coal in inexhaustible quantities, and unsurpassed in quality. The manufacturer will be given as low rates of freight as can be procured on such articles at any point. All we need is a direct connection with the Ohio valley in order to enable the manufacturer to cheaply distribute.

"The time at which it will be considered necessary by the management of the Louisville and Nashville road and the East Tennessee road to construct the link necessary to connect the roads, will depend some what on the progress which is made by the State of North Carolina in pushing a connection down the French Broad to a junction with our Morristown Branch at the State Line. In accordance with the request of the Directors of the East Tennessee road, Capt. Joseph Jaques, in company with Capt. Reagan, a civil engineer, has gone now to North Carolina for the purpose of getting all possible information with reference to the progress of the work. On his return his report will have careful consideration. It is desirable that the connections should be all completed about the same time. The East Tennessee road and Louisville and Nashville road feel great solicitude as to the gauge which shall be adopted South of Asheville, and will insist, if they build the link North of Knoxville, that a gauge of five feet shall be preserved as far as Asheville. Otherwise, the importance of the connection will be greatly impaired. It is not thought, however, that any trouble will be experienced in this regard.

"A connection with Louisville, of course, gives also a connection with Cincinnati, as the Knoxville branch of the Louisville and Nashville crosses the Cincinnati Southern at South Danville.

"In addition to this, we may almost confidently calculate that whenever the line is completed the Kentucky Central, which now extends from Cincinnati to Lexington, will strike for a connection with this line and thus procure an outlet to the South over the Knoxville and Ohio, otherwise it must remain a local road with the Cincinnati Southern a strong competitor for the local traffic.

"Let Cincinnati but decide what she will do, and other lines will not be long in determining their course and actively entering on their accomplishment."

"With the connection between Louisville and Knoxville, and the development which would follow, our Augusta and Charleston friends would be more than ever anxious for a connection. While I do not think this could be at once accomplished, I have no doubt but the construction of this line will follow as one of the results—just how soon the future must, of course, determine. The construction of this line to the Little Tennessee river would be of great advantage to Knoxville even now."

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

Ashpole Baptist Institute.

LEESVILLE, ROBESON CO., June 27.

The Ashpole Baptist Institute closed its first term to-day. At an early hour a large audience began to assemble and by 11 o'clock the grove and academy were literally crowded by the vast numbers assembled, the bell then sounded a summons to us and I tried to get a seat that I might report the address, but failed. The Literary address was delivered by Claud B. Townsend, Esq., of Lumberton, N. C., subject

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

Mr. Townsend is an Alumnus of Trinity and stood high in his class, having carried off the highest honors. The address was a fine one. The evening was spent in addresses, compositions and music from the school, after the following programme:

The exercises were of the first order. Every one acquitted himself as to reflect credit upon themselves and instructors. Rev. Mr. Ivey should feel very highly complimented at the success which has attended his first session. The music was good, and Miss Ivey deserves much praise for the rapid advancement of her pupils. Miss Cobb's composition was very fine, and the effect of Miss Etta Inman's reply to the Bachelor was very perceptible, and the production in itself was of great merit. In music, Misses Alice Ivey and Linnie Rogers, two very young pupils, deserve especial mention.

At night there was a social gathering which was much enjoyed by the young people, and I was glad to see so many of the old leading presence to the pleasure of the young. The young ladies, it seemed, were all belles. The "Sociable" was a very brilliant one; such as alway assemble in the Ashpole country. It was truly a gathering of beautiful, graceful ladies, and gallant young men.

This school has been in operation only fivemonths. It is carried on by a stock company, principally members of Ashpole Baptist Church.

Rev. S. Ivey, formerly principal of Apex Academy, and pastor of the church in the same town, is the principal, assisted by an able corps of teachers. The patrons and friends of the school are very much pleased with Prof. Ivey.

A bright future of usefulness and success await the school. Success to it.

The Breakbone Fever.

By Telegraph to the News.

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Persons who have just returned to the city from Para, Brazil, report the breakbone fever among the Mamora railroad constructionists, and much dissatisfaction is expressed because of alleged ill treatment by the overseers. Phillip Collins, the senior contractor, in this city, denies the statement of ill treatment, and says the fever is a climatic visitation. Only two deaths have occurred.

GOVERNOR VANCE left the city yesterday to attend the bed side of his sick wife.

J. D. BROOKS, ESQ., Editor Statesville Landmark, and lady, are in the city.

WM. A. DAVIS, ESQ., Editor Oxford Torchlight, passed up the road yesterday on his way to the Press Association, having delivered the address to the amateurs at Goldsboro.

RICHARD B. CREECY, ESQ., of Elizabeth City, Editor of the Economist, a well known gentleman of letters, is in the city, on his way to the Press Convention at Catawba Springs.

GENERAL JOHNSTONE JONES will represent the News at the Press Convention at Catawba Springs as a staff representative. It is not necessary to commend him to his brethren of the press in North Carolina.

THE Normal School at Chapel Hill is receiving the aid, countenance and support of all the public men and men of letters of the State, and has developed into one of the most successful institutions that ever existed in North Carolina. President Battle, the faculty at Chapel Hill, and the professors and teachers in the school are giving their whole time and attention to it with an industry that has seldom been witness in any public enterprise. The daily reports of the News are full of interest and information.

THE Radical County Convention yesterday was a sorry affair, and the most slimly attended since the emancipation of the colored people. There was no harmony of purpose and no unity of action. The colored people are much disgruntled at the turn affairs are taking, and show evident signs of weakening. The party harness has galled them, and they are slackening in the traces. The nominations made, are, for the most part, very distasteful, and the failure to nominate a Senator disgusts the party in the county. The Republicans will not be able to unite on Mr. Bledsoe. The Radicals in Wake are already beaten this year, and yesterday's convention plainly showed it.

Our Western Connections.

An article reproduced from the Knoxville Tribune on Western Railway connections will prove interesting reading to those people of North Carolina, who have ever given the subject of our system of railroads and its progress west of the Blue Ridge consideration and attention.

The original design was a North Carolina system of railway, beginning at Beaufort Harbor, penetrating the Blue Ridge and extending through Western North Carolina, touch the Tennessee Line at Paint Rock, where, uniting with the Tennessee system, connection was to be established with the upper Mississippi Valley and the great Northwest. To be sure, the Northwest was a wilderness when old Doctor Caldwell first began to project this grand scheme some three quarters of a century gone, and the Mississippi Valley had scarcely received impress from the foot of civilization, but the prophetic eye of the grand old man, a century in advance of his fellows, saw the giant West of to-day, and was solicitous that his loved North Carolina should not fall behind her sisters, or nieces and grand nieces to come after, in the great race of progress and prosperity.

South Carolina also awoke to the importance of the upper Mississippi Valley connection, and forty years ago had obtained a charter for a railroad to connect Charleston Harbor with Cincinnati, and as far back as 1836 the brilliant and lamented Robert Y. Hayne died locating the line down the French Broad River. That project has just pushed itself across the North Carolina border on the line of Henderson county, and in another year will have reached Asheville, as the Spartanburg and Asheville Railroad.

Twenty five years ago work began in earnest on the North Carolina system. The North Carolina Central was chartered in 1852, and under direction of the indomitable Morehead was completed within four years, and being two hundred and twenty-two miles long, was considered the greatest achievement of the age in railroad building, and it was. Two years later both the Atlantic and North Carolina and the Western North Carolina Railroads were charter ed and their construction begun. The first was completed in 1858, the other had progressed less than a hundred miles when the war came on and put a stop to all internal improvement. Repeated effort has, however, been made to revive the work, slow progress has been made, until now the road has penetrated the Blue Ridge and one hundred and twenty miles of the line are in operation. Sixty miles further will bring it to the Tennessee line at Paint Pock, where the Charleston, Cincinnati and Cumberland Gap Railroad, of the Tennessee system will meet it. The State will then have a line of railroad from the Atlantic, at Beaufort, to the Tennessee, four hundred and fifty miles long; and eighty miles further brings us to Knoxville. Reaching this point the enterprise begins to look in earnest toward Cincinnati, and having once come in connection with the Kentucky and Ohio Railroads, the system is complete throughout the West and North Carolina is in direct communication wth all the States.

It was about these connections at Knoxville and beyond, that Colonel Charles M. McGhee, Vice President of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, has engaged the attention of the Knoxville Tribune, and it will be seen that he gives satisfactory encouragement regarding the completion of those connections, and that they will be ready by the time the Western North Carolina reaches Paint Rock. This cannot be long delayed now, for good progress is being made through the tunnel under the Blue Ridge, which completed, leads on to Asheville without much difficulty or delay. From Asheville to Paint Rock, all the way down the French Broad, full forty per cent. of the work has been done for six years or more, and beyond all question the next Legislature will place a force on the Warm Springs Division sufficient to complete that portion of the line by the time the Tennesseeans come up from Wolf Creek in the Paint Rock direction, and our President Wilson, with his force reaches Asheville from the Swananoa tunnel.

Should the Cincinnati Southern decide to make Knoxville a terminus, instead of adhering to the original scheme of going to Chattanooga, it will insure our complete Western connections, but if it should not come to Knoxville, the connection will be made all the same, for at Knoxville there is the Knoxville and Ohio road running out to Careyville, a distance of forty miles with a gap of only sixty-three miles to fill to reach Livingston, Kentucky, and then the lines are complete to Cincinnati, Chicago, and throughout the North Western States to the Pacific.

At the present rate of progress two years will see all these connections complete, and then with the changes of gauge in the Western North Carolina Railroad, to which Colonel McGhee refers, our North Carolina system will be established and the, route open for traffic between our Atlantic Seaboard and the great markets of the West. The News has not presented anything of more value and interest to its readers for many a day than the extended publication from the Tribune, for at no time within the past quarter of a century has the outlook for our future development been so bright as the view affords which Colonel McGhee presents. It will make a vast difference to North Carolina when heavily laden trains freighting the rich products of her own trans-montane, the rich valley of East Tennessee, the blue grass wealth of Kentucky, and the granaries of the West come rushing through the heart of the State, emptying into her lap the treasure of empires. It will infuse new life into every industry, set on foot new enterprises, develop manufacturing, stimulating those already at work, and converting into active, thrifty citizens, the idle classes of society, give better remuneration to every branch of labor, and bring into requisition the unemployed who desire and deserve remunerative employment. There is a grand future for the old State, and it is within the grasp of the present, if they who love their State will but unbend and unitedly put their shoulders to the wheel of the car of progress and development.

THE Atlantic Tennessee and Ohio Railroad annual meeting comes off in Charlotte July fourth. This road it may be necessary to state, runs from Charlotte to Statesville.

The Government Building.

Work will be resumed on the government building to-morrow with a largely increased force, and in two weeks the post office will be completed and ready for furniture. During the past week the books and accounts of of the establishment have been subjected to the closest scrutiny, by E. G. Church, Esq., inspector of accounts, of Treasury Department, and have been found to balance to a fraction. When it is considered that the work has extended over a period of several years, and that the disbursement involved a sum little short of a third of a million of dollars. The result of this investigation is highly creditable to Mr. John Spelman, book-keeper, and to Mr. John Blake, disbursing agent. Indeed the conduct of these officers reflects credit upon our State, in these days of general official depravity.

The Republican County Convention.

This body, composed of about fifty-five negroes and fourteen whites, met on yesterday at Metropolitan Hall, for the purpose of making nominations for the Legislature and for the various counto offices. W. W. White called the convention to order and requested R. C. Badger to act as temporary chairman. On taking the chair Mr. Badger addressed the sable audience in a ten minutes speech, advising them to work together, irrespective of "race, color or previous condition." W. R. Harris and N. L. Jeffries were appointed secretaries. On motion, the chair appointed one delegate from each township, to constitute a Committee on Credentials. When Panther Branch was reached, as the roll of the townships was being called, a delegate "as black as the Duke's boots" arose and attempted to explain something to the Secretary, he was ordered to address the chair. "Good mornin', Mister Chairman," said he. During the time occupied by the committee in examining credentials, Tim Lee, W. L. Harris and J. E. Bledsoe were called on by the darkies, for a speech. Bledsoe spoke for a few minutes amid much confusion and cries of "Go ahead, young Bledsoe," "bully for you, dats so," "he's a who doo," "jess listen to him," &c. Harris spoke for a short time; then the chairman introduced Tim Lee as "the old war horse of victory." Tim was speechifying when the credential committee returned. They reported 23 townships and wards represented; report adopted. On motion, the convention proceeded to go into nominations of candidates for the House of Representatives. The following names were placed before the convention and much foul breath was expended in lauding each nominee. J. N. Bunting, N. B. Williams, T. C. Smith, Albert Magnin, Stewart Ellison, Jno. O. Harrison, Jno. A. McDonald, R. W. Wynne, W. R. Perry, Jno. P. Massey and J. J. Ferrell. Before the vote was taken, Tim Lee spoke, opposing colored representation in the Legislature and favoring the white nominees. A delegate from Wake Forest "riz" just about this time and said, "time is come fer de publican party to give de places to de people who labor in de burden of de day," and he for one, was not "gwine" to stan an see nobody from der city make his laws and rule over him: Amid much confusion, the vote was taken. Stewart Ellison, Albert Magnin and J. J. Ferrell were nominated on the first ballot, after which R. W. Wynne was nominated by acclamation and called on for a speech. He intimated that they did not treat him fairly, that he should have been nominated for the Senate, but as the convention did not know what they were doing, he would accept the nomination tendered him.

Thos. K. Bridgers and J. J. Nowell were placed before the convention for nomination for sheriff, several colored delegates opposed Nowell's nomination on the grounds that he employed too many Democrats as clerks and deputies, but in spite of the strong opposition, Nowell was nominated.

W. W. White received the nomination for Register of Deeds.

Chas. D. Upchurch was nominated for Clerk of the Superior Court. A sable delegate in supporting him said Mr. "Cheerman, he's the most goodest man you can git." Wiley D. Jones fussed a good deal because he did not receive the nomination for Superior Court Clerk, and moved that the convention would reconsider their original determination and proceed to nominate a Senator. Magnin advocated no nomination. Several negroes said that if the convention refused to nominate a Senator they would vote for Snow. The majority of the colored delegates were in favor of nomination, but were "bull dozed" out of it by Magnin, Tim Lee and others. Wiley D's motion was tabled.

W. R. Richardson was the nominee for Coroner and Charles Lane the nominee for County Surveyor.

Before the convention adjourned J. T. Jones, a colored delegate, made a speech in which he said, that as the convention refused to nominate a Senator, he was in favor of recommending George H. Snow, the Democratic nominee, instead of Moses A. Bledsoe, the independent, for in the case of the latter it was impossible to tell what party he did belong to, and further he (Bledsoe) refuses to say. The convention adjourned at five o'clock p. m., many of the delegates expressing their disgust at the proceedings.

The wranglings and disputes which occurred plainly, show the distress of the Republican party in this county.

We live at the bottom of an ocean of air, and of necessity breath more or less of the heavier poisonous germs constantly floating through it. To prevent such from asserting their prejudicial effect upon the system Dr. Bull's Blood mixture should be used as its efficacy is simply wonderful.

It is the only medicine I would give to my Baby, a mother said, speaking of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. At all drug stores 25 cents.

One thousand Telephone Shirts at 65 cents each, just received at Woollcott's Open Front Store, Wilmington Street. These Shirts are made of Androscoggin Bleaching, and the bosoms are pure linen. The lot is a consignment, and must be closed out. *

Something Worth Attention.

Consigners of county produce should ship to A. C. Sanders & Co., because they are the only commission merchants in Raleigh. They do not buy at all on their own account, but make prompt returns, at the same prices they sell at, which are the highest this market affords. *

A Secretion that Contaminates the Blood.

When the bile is diverted from its proper channels, into the blood, which is always the case in liver complaints, it ceases to be a healthy secretion, and becomes a poison. Its abnormal presence in the circulation and stomach is indicated by the suffusion of the skin with a hideous saffron tinge, by headaches, vertico, nausea, pain in the right side and under the right shoulder blade by indigestion, obstruction of the bowels, and other minor symptoms. Order may be substituted for this state of chaos, and further bodily evil averted by using the beneficent alterative and tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which, by relaxing the bowels, promotes the escape from the circulation of bilious impurities, besides reudering the action of the liver regular, and removing every trace of dyspepsia. This pleasant and purely vegetable anti-bilious medicine is not only infinitely more effective than any form of mercury, but is on account of its freedom from hurtful properties, infinitely to be preferred to that poisonous drug.

VEGETINE.

Vegetine

I ADVISE ALL WHO ARE SUFFERING AS I HAVE SUFFERED TO GIVE VEGETINE A TRIAL.

BOSTON, Sept. 9, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—I have suffered with Scrofulous Humor for seven years, and could get no relief. I have tried everything in the shape of herbs, salves, plasters, &c., but nothing did me any good. I was from my knees to my ankles one mass of sores. I was advised by police officer W. B. Hill, to try Vegetine. I commenced last July, 1876. After taking the second bottle I began to get relief, and the sores to heal up. I was finally reduced to one large ulcer on my right leg, that run so much and looked so bad, that many said I must lose my leg; but after I had taken four bottles of Vegetine, my leg was all healed up, and I am now as well as ever I was in my life. I consider Vegetine the best cleanser and purifier of the blood, and advise all who may be suffering as I have suffered to give it a trial.

HENRY T. SMITH,
No. 50 Utica St., Boston, Mass.

SCROFULOUS HUMORS.—The Vegetine has cured many cases of Scrofula of five, ten, and twenty years' standing, where the patient has had many physicians, tried many of the known remedies: and, after trying the Vegetine the common remark is, "It acts differently, works differently, from any medicine I have ever taken." Vegetine will cleanse scrofula from the system, Try it.

Vegetine.

CAN RECOMMEND.

SOMERVILLE, June 1, 1875.

DR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—It is with great pleasure I can commend in the highest terms your Vegetine as a purifier of blood. Having met with a painful injury of the spine and sciatica nerve over fourteen years ago, my ankle has been swollen a great deal of the time, and very painful. By using Vegetine, I find great relief, as it gives a higher tone to the blood, improving my health; and I hope that all the human family in a sufferling condition will avail themselves at once of this most valuable remedy.

Yours most respectfully,
WM. STINEHERT,
Station Agent, Somerville, Mass.

"Vegetine," says a Boston physician, "has no equal as a blood purifier. Bearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed I visited the laboratory, and convinced myself of its genuine merit. It is prepared from barks, roots, and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce astonishing results."

VEGETINE.

COMPLETELY URED ME.

NEWPORT, KY., Feb. 26, 1877.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir.—I write to say that seven bottles of your Vegetine have completely cured me from a very severe case of Scrofula, of many years' standing, after trying many medicines and doctoring a great deal. I am now free from all sores, and can work as well as ever, and think the Vegetine is a god-send, and no one ought to do without it.

I remain, respectfully yours,
J. A. PATRICK.

Vegetine is now prescribed in cases of Scrofula, and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians owing to its great success in curing all diseases of this nature.
